Harvard University North Yard Update

The following update is provided by Tom Lucey, Harvard's Director of Community Relations.

It is my pleasure to provide you with an update of activities around the Harvard University's North Yard as well as to reaffirm our continued commitment to keep the line of communications open.

In terms of Faculty of Arts and Sciences (FAS) projects, updates include:

The Laboratory for Interface Science and Engineering (LISE) - LISE is the facility that will be located adjacent to the McKay Lab at the south end of Oxford Street. It will be used by the scientists in several departments including Physics, the Dept of Engineering and Applied Sciences, Chemistry, and Biology for research in nanoscale and mesoscale science. Harvard presented this project to neighbors multiple times including two presentations at the ANC, and community meetings to discuss construction impacts, and displays at the Sacramento Street

Notes from the February 24th ANC Meeting

Dave Wood welcomed everyone to the meeting and set up the agenda for the night: a brief discussion of Harvard's North Yard development with Tom Lucey; an extension of the discussion on Porter Square and lower Mass Ave, begun at the February 5th meeting sponsored by the Cambridge Community Development department; and an introduction to John Moot, president of the Association of Cambridge Neighborhoods.

Tom Lucey outlined Harvard's plans for North Yard, beginning with a few FAS projects. The Laboratory for Interface Science and Engineering, or LISE, will provide space for studies in nanotechnology in a new building adjacent to McKay. The latest update has site prep beginning in mid-April, with construction beginning this June and continuing through mid-2007. The Northwest Science Building is in initial design stages. It will be a 400,000 square-foot building, half of which will be underground. Tom also mentioned that interior and exterior renovations will begin soon on Palfrey House.

Harvard Law School, which has concluded a study begun in 2002 to try to understand community issues relating to development, is examining its options for meeting its current space and facility needs while remaining on its current property. Harvard thinks it could meet the needs of the Law School by replacing the Everett Street garage with an underground garage and building on that site. This process is still in its infancy, and Harvard intends to work with the neighborhood to set guidelines for height and distance from the street once architectural and planning firms are on board.

Tom encouraged community members to contact the Harvard

Community Relations department with questions and concerns, at 617-495-4955. He also gave out the Construction Mitigation number (617-496-0857) for construction concerns. He announced two upcoming meetings: the Harvard Town Gown Report at the March 2nd Planning Board meeting, and a presentation on North Yard at the March 16th Planning Board meeting. Both meetings are at 7:30 PM at 344 Broadway.

Stephen Diamond opened discussion on Porter Square. Jeff Roberts, a CDD Neighborhood Planner for the Agassiz, Wellington/Harrington, Mid-Cambridge and East Cambridge neighborhoods, introduced himself and encouraged residents to contact him with planning and development concerns (Jeff can be reached at 617-349-4639 or jroberts@cambridgema.gov). Community members talked about their desire for Mass Ave to be something we can all be proud of. One community member announced that roadway improvements in Porter Square are set to begin in July 2004, beginning with traffic lights. One major change will be a left-hand turn out of the Porter Square shopping center. George Smith, Director of Operations and Campus Planning at Lesley, outlined Lesley's plans for their three Mass Ave properties. The parking lot at the Alamo car rental, at 1663 Mass Ave, may become dorms or office spaces for the School of Education. The parking lots opposite the Porter Exchange could be a possible home for the Art Institute of Boston or for more dorms. All of Lesley's development plans include retail space on the ground floors.

Lastly, John Moot discussed the Association of Cambridge Neighborhoods. It includes representatives from 20 neighborhoods, though there is no representative from Agassiz. John encouraged community members to get involved, stressing that many of the problems faced by Agassiz residents are similar to those of residents in other neighborhoods, and that all neighborhoods can learn from each other. The ACN meets every third Wednesday of the month, at the Radisson on Memorial Drive, at 7:30. To receive the ACN's newsletter via email, contact John Moot: johnmoot@comcast.net. The newsletter, as well as other information about the ACN, can be viewed at www.acncambridge.com.

Agassiz Neighborhood Council Seeks Board Candidates

The Nominating Committee of the Agassiz Neighborhood Council will convene this month and develop a slate of directors who will be elected in May to each serve a 2 year term. The next few years will be an exciting and busy time for the ANC board. Work will include the final stages of a capital campaign to develop a citywide community art center and a construction project to improve the exterior and enhance accessibility at 20 Sacramento Street.

The Nominating Committee will consider many factors including the candidates skills and interests, prior program or community participation and the ability to work as a productive board member in concert with other dedicated, civic minded citizens who willingly volunteer their time in support of the Agassiz Neighborhood Council mission.

Please send a letter of interest to ANC Nominating Committee, ANC, 20 Sacramento Street, Cambridge 02138 or <tdelancey@agassiz.org>. Let the committee know why you (or your nominee) would be a good candidate. Please include overall experience that you believe would make a good board member.

Keep Sidewalks Clear!

Excerpts from "Snow: Our Winter Challenge; A Guide for Cambridge Property Owners and Residents," published by the Cambridge Department of Public Works

Snow and ice make walking difficult for everyone: school children, mail carriers, elders, and T riders. If you own property, remember to:

- * Keep adjacent sidewalks clear of snow and ice. If you go out of town, be sure someone else will do it.
- * Clear openings at corners and crosswalks so pedestrians can cross safely.
- * Dig out fire hydrants and catch basins.
- * Park your car at least 20 feet from street corners so plows can push snow away from sidewalks.

If you fail to comply with the City's sidewalk clearance ordinances, you will be issued a $25 per day fine.

Don't throw snow from your sidewalks into the street. When digging out your car, don't throw snow over the sidewalk. It is illegal to "reserve" parking spaces on the street.

For people on foot, ice can be worse than snow. You are as responsible for ice on your sidewalks as you are for snow. You must remove it or melt it within 6 hours.

- * Stock up on ice melter before a storm.
- * Use ice melter with calcium chloride (CaCl<sub>2</sub>). It's better for the environment and only a small amount is required to melt ice. Potassium chloride (KCl) is okay, too.
- * Avoid rock salt (NaCl or sodium chloride) -- it kills plants and trees.
- * Avoid sand. It makes hard ice more slippery, gets into storm drains and catch basins, and is expensive to clean up in the spring.
- * Use ice melter on your driveway entrance and sidewalks early and often to prevent snow from packing down and forming into ice.

If you are a homeowner with a low income ($20,351.00 for a one-person household) and you are elderly or disabled, you may qualify for the City's Snow Exemption Program. If you qualify, the DPW will shovel your sidewalk. To apply, call the Cambridge Council on Aging, 617.349.6220 (TTY: 617.349.6050).

To report unshoveled or icy sidewalks to the Snow Hotline, call 617.349.4903 (TTY: 617.349.4805) and leave a detailed address.

Gallery and the Baldwin School. Site prep is expected to begin in mid-April. Construction will begin in June and is expected to continue into early to mid-2007.

Palfrey House -- The Palfrey House has been moved twice in the past 18 months -- first to make room for construction of the Oxford Street Parking Facility and second to place it near its final location above the Parking Facility. Review by the Cambridge Historic Commission was completed last fall. Renovation will begin next month on both the interior and exterior of the house. FAS will occupy Palfrey House for office space beginning in Fall 2004.

NorthWest Building -- Currently in the initial phase of design by Craig Hartman of Skidmore, Owings, & Merrill, the NorthWest building will be a 436,000 gsf structure (approximately 1/2 underground) to be located above and adjacent to the Oxford Street Parking Facility. To date, Harvard has had several meetings with neighbors who have provided the architects with input. The next meeting will include the landscape architect as well. Harvard plans to present to the ANC in the coming months. The city approval process (a BZA variance is required) is expected to take place later this year. It is hoped that construction will begin in early 2005 and continue until Sept 2007.

Other updates relate to the Harvard Law School:

As you know in 2002, the Law School began a process to assess the potential of its current site to accommodate future space needs as well as to understand community and city issues regarding possible development.

One of the findings of this study was that if Harvard Law School could replace the existing Everett Street parking garage with an underground parking structure and relocate the two existing wood frame houses, its space needs could be accommodated in Cambridge.

The Law School has now started a process of looking at architectural planning firms and hopes to select a firm over the next several months. Once in place, the planning firm will proceed with programming studies and eventually site design and building design. Of course during this time, we will be working with the community and city to shape an agreement on the overall development plan.

For further information, please contact Tom Lucey at (617) 495-4955.

Harvard's Construction mitigation number is (617) 496-0857.

Porter Sq/Lower Mass Ave Meeting

On Thursday, February 5th, the City of Cambridge Community Development Department held an informational meeting at the Baldwin School to discuss development in Porter Square and on Massachusetts Avenue from Beech Street to Wendell Street. The well-attended meeting began with an introduction by Beth Rubenstein, Assistant City Manager for Community Development, who explained the CDD's desire to start a "community conversation" about the issues in this area. Stuart Dash, Director of Community Planning, reviewed discussion topics for the meeting: the MBTA Air-Rights Project, the Lesley University Master Plan, the Porter Square roadway improvements project (tentatively planned for 2005) and the preservation of Mass Ave retail. After a review of the zoning in the area by Les Barber, Director of Land Use and Zoning, the meeting was opened up for community questions, concerns and comments. Mark Boyle from the MBTA fielded questions about the Air-Rights project, and confirmed that Oaktree Development is the selected developer, but clarified that no final decision has been made to move forward, as Oaktree is working on a dialogue with Lesley. Several residents wondered why the dividing line for the area of discussion was drawn at Wendell Street, and the CDD explained that south of Wendell, there's an institutional focus due to Harvard's presence there. Other community concerns included pedestrian safety improvements, particularly for women; the need for community input for all development; a need for overall planning in the city rather than by neighborhood; the relationship between population density, parking availability and traffic in the Porter area; and support (including beer and wine licenses) to help small restaurants survive. The Community Development Department can be reached at 617.349.4600. Copies of information handed out at the meeting, as well as additional information on Porter Square/Lower Mass Ave projects, can be accessed at www.cambridgema.gov/~CDD/complan/zoning/psqlma/index.html. In addition, discussion on Porter Square was continued at the February 24th ANC meeting. For notes from that meeting, please see page 1.

Rededication Ceremony

On Thursday, February 12th, the Baldwin School held a special ceremony to honor African-American educator Maria L. Baldwin and to officially rededicate the school (formerly Agassiz) in her name. Miss Baldwin served at the Agassiz School for forty years, first as a teacher and then as a principal.

At a school-wide assembly, Baldwin students, as well as special guests and families, listened to speeches by former Agassiz/Baldwin principal (now principal of CRLS) Dr. Sybil Knight, City Councillor Denise Simmons, Deputy Superintendent Dr. Carolyn Turk, and keynote speaker Sara-Ann Shaw, president of the Women's League for Community Service and WBZ television personality. Speakers read poems by Langston Hughes, recounted Baldwin's life, and spoke about their own pride in being African-American women. Following the assembly, Baldwin principal Mary Eirich and various guests and students went outside to unveil the Baldwin School's new sign, pictured at bottom.
