LISE Project Meeting
Thursday, June 24, 2004
7:00 - 8:00 PM
Harvard University
Maxwell-Dworkin Lobby
33 Oxford Street

Dear Neighbor,

We are pleased to invite you to a community meeting about planning and design of the North West Science Building being held on Thursday, June 17, 7:00 - 8:30 PM at Maxwell-Dworkin Room 119, 33 Oxford Street.

As you may recall, in January of 2003, Harvard started a collaborative design process for the North West Science Building by calling for volunteers who were interested in this project to meet with building's architect, Craig Hartman of the firm Skidmore Owings and Merrill. Approximately one dozen Agassiz residents responded and have been meeting with Craig and Harvard officials to discuss the design of this project.

This meeting will provide interested neighbors with another opportunity to learn about the design of the North West Science Building, and, in particular, will focus on the landscape plans for the neighborhood edge on Hammond Street. In addition to this meeting, Harvard will also present the design of the building to the Agassiz Neighborhood Council in September.

We look forward to seeing you. If you have any questions, please contact Tom Lucey at (617) 495-9033 or Thomas_Lucey@harvard.edu.

As construction begins the Laboratory for Interface Science and Engineering (LISE) building, Harvard is pleased to host another question and answer session on the topic of construction impacts on the neighborhood. Similar to the Bagels or Beer sessions held in late 2003, this meeting will provide residents with an opportunity to have their questions answered and to learn about the project's schedule. For further information about this meeting, please do not hesitate to contact Tom Lucey at Harvard's Office of Community Relations, (617)495-4955 or via email at thomas_lucey@harvard.edu

	CLOTHING DRIVE The Cambridge Public School's Family Resource Center is holding a clothing drive. Please bring all clean and gently worn clothing for all ages to their office located at 459 Broadway, Cambridge, in Cambridge Rindge & Latin School, R131.

Willie Bloomstein said that nothing has happened with the Northwest Science Building. There was a Planning Board meeting on NW Science, but Harvard is still working on design issues. Community members discussed representation of the neighborhood by committees and the accountability of those committees. Willie Bloomstein and Miriam Goldberg will not be Agassiz reps anymore and will need to be replaced. Residents expressed the concern that a direct abutter should serve on the committee for any project. The question was raised of how many committees should be formed. Should there be one for Mass Avenue? Separate committees for Harvard and Lesley development? Most people agreed that committees should be obligated to report regularly back to the ANC. Willie proposed that a new committee meet before the June 15th meeting at which Harvard will present an update, so they know what they want to ask Harvard. The meeting was set for Tuesday, June 8th at 6:00 PM in the Agassiz Community Center at 20 Sacramento Street (see page 1). All are welcome to attend; for more information, contact Amy King.

Porter Square News

Oaktree Pulls Out of Air Rights

As those who have been following the Porter Square Air Rights development know, winning bidder Oaktree Design & Development has pulled out of the plan. The MBTA is currently preparing to re-open the bidding process, with Porter Square neighbors hoping for more community input this time around. The May 27th issue of the Cambridge Chronicle quoted MBTA consultant Gregory Dicoivtsky as saying that he would be "surprised if something was to happen without the municipalities' [input]." Mark Boyle of the MBTA said that they hope to make a decision about how they will proceed by the end of June. To stay current on Porter Square issues, contact the Porter Square Neighbors Association president Dave Reed at 617-497-5184. The PSNA meets monthly.

Repairs Begin at Porter Square T Station

In May, the MBTA began the process of making some long-awaited repairs to the Porter Square T Station. Workers have ordered new doors and begun repairing the broken tile surface in the plaza area. Additional improvements include fixing broken windows and skylights and some fresh paint.

Thanks to Alice Wolf and the PSNA

Carol Weinhaus, an Agassiz resident who has been actively involved in the Porter Square Air Rights project, asked us to publicly thank State Representative Alice Wolf, Porter Square Neighbors Association president Dave Reed, and the rest of the folks in the PSNA for their tireless efforts to bring a community process to the Air Rights Project.

Weigh In on the Alden Tot Lot!

The City of Cambridge is looking for your input in the upcoming renovation of the Baldwin School/Alden Tot Lot. In the late spring /early fall of this year they will start a community process.

By answering the following questions about the present use of the park, and about potential improvements to the park, you help the design professionals working on this project gain a better sense of the role Alden Tot Lot has played in your community up to now, and how that role can be enhanced.

Answers can be emailed to Janice Appleyard in the Community Development Department at jappleyard@cam-bridgema.gov. You may also contact Janice at 617-349-4651 for a paper copy of the survey.

Questions:

1. What do you like most about the Baldwin School/Alden Tot Lot?
2. What do you like least?
3. How is the Park presently used?
4. How would you like to see it used?
5. How long have you used the Tot Lot?
6. What are the ages of the members of your household?
7. Is there anything else you would like us to know about the Baldwin School/Alden Tot Lot.
8. What other city parks do you frequent and why?
9. What did you enjoy/play with as a child? Where was this park?

Do you have what to do each month?
