NOTES FROM THE OCT. 9 MEETING

Living Well Network Fall Programming

Colin Barr, Coordinator for the Living Well Network (LWN), ABC's initiative that supports people age 55 and older to age well in their community, provided details about programming for fall 2012.

Mr. Barr stated, "The Living Well Network helps to reduce isolation and increase vitality: educational, cultural, and physical."

Stephen Diamond, ANC Meeting Chair, ABC Board Director, and LWN Member, explained: "LWN grew out of a strong determination of the Board to support and provide activities for people who are getting older, and wish to remain in the neighborhood. I strongly recommend it to everyone."

Agassiz Neighborhood Path

Efforts have begun to create a second edition of the Agassiz Neighborhood Path, a walking route through the neighborhood that identifies places and plants of interest. Additional volunteers are sought to help plan, research, and create a new path and map for spring 2013.

To get involved, contact Phoebe Sinclair at (617) 349-6287 x10 or psinclair@agassiz.org.

This project is supported by a grant from the Cambridge Agassiz Harvard (CAH) Fund.

Forest Street Construction Update

Jim Wilcox, Director of Engineering Services, and Eric Breen, Project Manager with the Cambridge Department of Public Works, provided updates about construction in the neighborhood related to the city's sewer/stormwater separation project.

Forest & Oxford Street Construction

Beginning the week of October 9 and continuing as weather allows, Forest Street roadway reconstruction will be completed in phases:

- Remove all asphalt from the roadway
- Repave street
- Install new sidewalks

The following work was recently completed on Oxford between Prentiss and Beacon Sts.:

- New utilities
- New sidewalk
- Repaved roadway
- New trees

Frost Street

DPW renegotiated the Forest Street contract to include sewer separation and street reconstruction on Frost Street. This project begins Thursday, October 11.

Q&A

Q: Would the use of steel plates to cover holes in the street speed the process?

A: Instead of using steel plates, which the DPW finds problematic, they back-fill at the end of each day with gravel.

Q: Is Somerville undertaking a similar sewer separation project?

A: Somerville has been cooperative with Cambridge's project, but DPW representatives were unable to comment on the other city's overall plans.

Q: Will you save affected trees?

A: Yes. If a tree needs to be removed, DPW will replant one following construction.

Q: The fire hydrants seem to be set very high. Is this due to construction?

A: Yes. The height of the hydrants is associated with sidewalk reconstruction. Since the Fire Department prefers them taller for better access, the hydrants may remain at this height.

Council Response

The Council voted to request that any new tree pits be dug in accordance to recently developed standards via the Mass. Ave. Master Plan. This would allow for increased space for roots and better access to water.

Additionally, the Council asked DPW to pilot laying porous asphalt beneath the sidewalk bricks near tree pits, creating a more permeable surface. If successful, other areas of the neighborhood and city could benefit from similar efforts to improve conditions for street trees.

Finally, there was also a request that the Cambridge Department of Traffic, Parking and Transportation repaint the central stripe on Roseland Street. Mr. Breen agreed to contact the department on this point.

Sewer/Stormwater Separation Project Background

Cambridge has been engaged in separating sewer water from storm water since the 1930s, with the final goal of separated systems to convey only sewer water to the treatment plant and only stormwater to the river.

Organized in program areas representing actual water-flow rather than neighborhood boundaries, the sewer separation project evolved to include reconstructing entire streets, since many are in poor condition. This includes installing new water mains, replacing gas mains, and surface enhancements such as street repaving, new sidewalks, and traffic calming measures.

In the late 1990s, to alleviate flooding, DPW began installation of holding tanks designed to contain large volumes of water from severe storms. Currently these tanks exist on Scott St., Museum St., Beacon St., beneath Harvard Yard, and beneath the Cambridge Public Library on Broadway.

The sewer separation program, primarily financed through city funds, is expected to continue for at least another decade.

Nearby Projects

At Oxford/Wendell, revisions will be made to the raised intersection to install crosswalk stripes, improving visibility. ANC had previously requested this change due to safety concerns and a fatal accident at that site. The other raised intersection at Oxford/Garfield will be reconstructed as part of the Forest St. contract.

The city is beginning a large sewer separation project on Hovey Ave., near the entrance to the Spaulding Hospital, off Cambridge St.

Upcoming Work

DPW is working on designs for Roseland Street and Newport Rd, and is seeking funds to begin the project next year. Lesley University will complete a portion of the sewer separation in this area as part of their mitigation process related to construction of the Art Institute of Boston.

Planning for Sidewalk Snow Clearing

The Council discussed city and community efforts to address snow removal in the City.

City Program

Mr. Diamond reported that this year the DPW will continue to increase the scope of its snow-clearing program by clearing more major streets' sidewalks. Following every snowfall that exceeds six inches, and after streets have been plowed, additional crews will clear bus stops, crosswalks, and street corners on major streets. For the Agassiz neighborhood, this includes Mass. Ave. and Kirkland St., and possibly Oxford.

Community Concerns

Council members noted that the sidewalk in front of the Sacramento Street Community Garden on Sacramento St., for which the city is responsible, is often not cleared of snow or ice.

Learn More

A video was shown at the ANC meeting about problems of access with incomplete snow clearing in Cambridge. You can see it at: <http://bit.ly/cambridge-snow-psa>.

To remind residents of their snow clearing responsibilities, the Council developed a handout. This handout can be downloaded from ABC's website at bit.ly/anc-snow-notice, and is also available at 20 Sacramento Street.

Mass. Ave. Master Plan Update

Carol Weinhaus, Agassiz resident and Council Member, gave a brief report on the Mass. Ave. Master Plan, a collaborative effort between the residents and the city to improve the streetscape between Harvard and Porter Squares. The team working on the plan hopes to host open houses this fall, presenting the final results.

41ST ANNUAL THANKSGIVING POTLUCK FEAST

This November, help make Thanksgiving memorable by volunteering to cook a turkey for our 41st Annual Thanksgiving Potluck Feast.

How It Works

Our tradition is to deliver a free turkey and roasting pan to volunteers' homes the week of the potluck. Volunteers drop off the cooked turkey (no stuffing, please) before dinner begins on the evening of Tuesday, November 20th. We need eight volunteers to cook turkey, and four to help carve just before and during the event.

Who Is Invited

We welcome everyone from the neighborhood, Agassiz Baldwin Children's Programs, Living Well Network, Maud Morgan Arts, and Maria L. Baldwin School communities to come together for an evening of celebration, good company, and delicious food. Please remember that while we will host kids' activities at the event, parents are ultimately responsible for their children.
