NOTES FROM THE JAN. 20 MEETING

CCTV Plans Civic Journalism Workshop

"CCTV's website has become a hub for community information," stated Nilagia McCoy, Membership, Outreach, and Promotions Coordinator for Cambridge Community Television (CCTV). "We are a good source for what's happening in specific communities in Cambridge."

As such, Ms. McCoy introduced CCTV's latest project, an event where residents from all over Cambridge can learn how to use new media technologies on behalf of their neighborhoods.

This free workshop and panel discussion, scheduled for Tuesday, April 13 at CCTV, was inspired by CCTV's Neighbormedia program that offers training in civic journalism, blogging, and new media. Workshop participants will learn about technologies that are easy to use and inexpensive to obtain. Panelists will include prominent Cambridge bloggers, webmasters, and others who are using the Internet to connect people in their communities.

Ms. McCoy explained that CCTV is asking neighborhood groups to sign on as sponsors of the event, helping to spread the word to their constituents. She stated, "We're looking for sponsors to lend more credibility to our event and help attract our target audience: residents who are savvy about what's going on in their neighborhoods."

Following Ms. McCoy's explanation and request, the Agassiz Neighborhood Council voted unanimously to sponsor CCTV's civic journalism workshop event.

Suggest A Panelist

Schedule Change for Prentiss/Oxford Street Improvements

Owen O'Riordan, Cambridge City Engineer, reported that reconstruction work on Prentiss St. and upper Oxford St. has been rescheduled to February due to weather. Before construction begins, the Department of Public Works (DPW) will deliver notification flyers and hold a community meeting at the Maria L. Baldwin School.

The repairs are being completed in association with DPW's citywide sewer/storm water separation project. The gas line on Prentiss St. has already been replaced in preparation for the upcoming work and a new sewer line will be installed. Mr. O'Riordan warned that DPW might need to install curb extensions to accommodate trees and maintain accessibility on sidewalks. This could result in the loss of one and a half to two parking spaces.

After Prentiss and upper Oxford have been repaired and repaved, the following streets will be reconstructed on an annual basis: Forrest Street, Frost Street, Newport Road, and Roseland Street.

Funding for these repairs comes from the city's capital budget. Additionally, Mr. O'Riordan noted that lower contractor prices have allowed DPW to fund more projects than they would have been able to otherwise.

Beacon St. Hotel Update

Astrid Dodds provided an update on a hotel proposed for 371 Beacon Street in Somerville, at the junction of Oxford St. and Beacon St. The four-story, thirty-six room hotel includes a sixty-seat restaurant and underground parking that utilizes a mechanical stacking system for twenty-eight vehicles. The building will have a brick-like façade, a canopy, and a widened sidewalk. A two-car drop-off space will be available at the front, and the developer will try to ensure that deliveries to the site are made mid-day rather than during rush hour.

Ms. Dodds reported that there have been numerous community meetings discussing the project, some sponsored by the City of Somerville, some by the developer, and some initiated by abutters and residents. She added, "Somerville has been very hospitable about including Cambridge neighbors."

One issue has been environmental cleanup of the site, which was a gas station for many decades. Most of the escaped gasoline has been cleaned up and the rest is monitored via small wells scattered around the site. Monitoring will continue by the developer's environmental consultant according to Mass. Department of Environmental Protection guidelines. Ten nearby residents are notified of all environmental developments.

Other than it's size (over 10,000 square feet) the project fits within the B-A Zoning District guidelines for Somerville. Some residents remain concerned that the hotel will generate more motor vehicle congestion at an already busy location. A traffic study found that the hotel will not change the level of service (vehicle delays and length of queues). Other residents think the best way to discourage car use by hotel guests is to create more inviting pedestrian connections.

“As it stands currently, the area presents a complicated pedestrian crossing problem,” Ms. Dodds told the Council.

ANC voted unanimously to support a letter, composed by Ms. Dodds, asking Somerville to more fully explore the merits of a crosswalk across Beacon Street connecting the new hotel to the curved sidewalk where Beacon and Oxford meet. Copies of the letter will go to relevant Somerville and Cambridge city departments.

Postscript: On Jan. 20, 2010, the Somerville Board of Zoning Appeal approved this project, with some conditions, including reducing the restaurant seats from 60 to 54.

Mass. Highway plans to rebuild Beacon St. in 2013.

Climate Emergency Congress Update

Council members were invited to review and provide feedback on a list of proposals suggesting changes Cambridge city government and citizens can make to reduce the city’s greenhouse gas emissions and carbon footprint.

The twenty-nine proposals, generated by participants at the first Cambridge Climate Emergency Congress held in December 2009, were consolidated from approximately three hundred proposals.

Agassiz resident Ted Live, who served as ANC’s delegate to the congress, stated that he expects the number to be further reduced at the next meeting scheduled for Saturday, January 23, 2010.

Snow Removal: Sidewalks and Corners

Council members watched a video about the importance of clearing sidewalks. The video showed with clarity and good humor how difficult it can be for people with disabilities, parents with strollers, and everyone else to traverse Cambridge’s sidewalks after a snowstorm. In particular it called attention to difficulty of navigating crosswalks and corners.

Following a discussion of un-shoveled and partially shoveled sidewalks and corners, the Council voted to send a letter to the Cambridge Department of Public Works asking the city to take on responsibility for clearing all of the crosswalks and corners after street plowing. They will also request that the city research the possibilities and costs of clearing at least a first pass on all city sidewalks.

SIGN UP FOR "HIGH READ" NOTIFICATIONS

The Cambridge Water Department's "High Read" notification program contacts property owners soon after an incident of high-usage is detected. Speedy notification allows property owners to repair any leaks and identify other usages that affect the amount of water one uses.

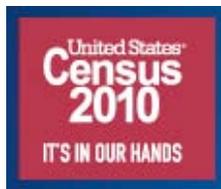

The program requires that customers update their contact information so the Water Department is able to contact property owners as soon as a "high read" is detected. The cost of this program is included in the water rates.

To learn more, please call Brian McCoy at (617) 349-4771 or email him at HighReads@cambridgema.gov with your account number, phone number, mailing address, and email address.

Visit the Water Department online at www.cambridgema.gov/CWD/meter.cfm.

CENSUS 2010 COMPLETE COUNT

The federal 2010 Census is a count of everyone living in the United States —citizens and non-citizens.

It's Important: Census data directly affects how more than $400 billion in federal and state funding is allocated to communities for housing, public health, schools, neighborhood improvements, transportation, etc.

It's Easy: It takes less than ten minutes to complete the questionnaire.

It's Confidential: It is illegal for the Census Bureau to share personal information with any other government agency --not law enforcement, IRS, Welfare, FBI, Immigration, etc. The Cambridge Complete Count Committee urges everyone in Cambridge to participate in the 2010 Census. The federal 2010 Census forms will be mailed out in March and will ask for household information as of April 1, 2010. If the U.S. Census Bureau does not receive a response from your household, they will mail a second form and conduct follow-up calls and visits.

(It is important to note that the City of Cambridge also conducts an annual street listing census every year. This survey has nothing to do with the federal 2010 Census. Please take the time to complete both forms. The local City of Cambridge street listing census mailing is sent in January and includes a follow-up mailing.)

Learn more about the 2010 Census and why it matters to you and Massachusetts at www.ma2010census.org.
