NOTES FROM THE DEC. 13 MEETING

Expanded Snow Removal In Cambridge

"The city has a strong snow removal program, but we're always trying to improve," stated Lisa Peterson, Public Works Commissioner at the December ANC meeting.

In addition to clearing snow and ice from 125 miles of public streets, city-owned parking lots, and garages, the Department of Public Works (DPW) clears approximately eighteen miles of public sidewalks, bus stops, and crosswalks in high-use areas. Additionally, last winter DPW removed approximately 20,000 tons of snow due to public safety; usually snow removal is limited because of the considerable cost and lack of space to place snow.

Ms. Peterson, accompanied by John Nardone, Assistant Commissioner for Operations, described sidewalk snow removal as particularly challenging.

She explained, "There have been requests from residents over the years for Public Works to clear all sidewalks in addition to streets, but the resources needed would be extraordinary. According to our analysis, clearing residential sidewalks could cost $750,000 per storm, up to ten million dollars for the season, depending on the severity of the winter. Residents would be spending a full percent of their tax rate on snow removal! So we're looking at incremental improvements, including putting our attention on corners."

As part of its approach, DPW enforces the city's snow and ice clearing ordinance, issuing citations as necessary. In 2010, the DPW received 2400 complaints and issued over a thousand citations. To report an uncleared walk, residents may call the Snow Hotline at (617) 349-4903, use the online form at http://bit.ly/cambridge_snow, or download the city's new iReport app from www.cambridgema.gov, Android phone Marketplace, or (available soon) iTunes App Store.

Program Expansion

In addition to receiving feedback from individuals, DPW met with the Cambridge Commission for Persons with Disabilities and Cambridge Pedestrian Commission about priorities for clearing snow from sidewalk corners and crosswalks.

“We realize that compacted snow at the corners is a problem,” stated Mr. Nardone. “We meet with the crews to go over this issue. We can’t stop all of it from happening, but we’re trying to work with the plow drivers regarding where they’re placing snow.”

Beginning this winter, DPW will hire additional contractors to clear crossings, corners, and bus stops in high traffic areas –approximately 2000 ramps and crossings, and 250 bus stops. Crews will include pick-up trucks, small plow vehicles, as well as workers with shovels and snow blowers. Most snow removal is done by machine but, with significant accumulation, it can take up to three days for snow to be cleared citywide.

Ms. Peterson added, “We expect to learn a lot about our expanded snow removal program this winter. Our infrastructure is challenging in that Cambridge has miles of narrow sidewalks obstructed by street trees and utility poles, making clearing of all sidewalks by machine impossible.”

Community Response

Council members discussed following requests, issues, and suggestions for the city:

- Please pay more attention to plowing Oxford Street
- Consider offering honoraria to plow crews that do exemplary work

- Last year, the universities deposited snow in public parking spaces, rendering them unusable for long stretches of time
- In addition to the diagonal path in the Cambridge Common, please clear a path along the Mass. Ave. edge
- What group is responsible for plowing “little Mass. Ave.”, the triangle-shaped strip of MBTA vents and sidewalk across from Harvard Law School?
- Can the city negotiate with large landowners/institutions for long-term garage parking during snow emergencies?
- Can the city assist with vetting snow removal contractors for hire?

Fred Meyer, long-time resident and ABC Board Director, stated, “It’s inefficient for landowners to deal with sidewalks individually. We should work towards the city taking on responsibility for clearing all the sidewalks on a first pass, paid for by an increase in taxes.”

Stephen Diamond, ANC meeting chair, added, “Snow removal might cost less overall if the city and community collaborated.”

He thanked Ms. Peterson and Mr. Nardone, stating, “Snow clearing is an annual problem. I hope this discussion has been as useful to you as it has been to us!”

City Exemption Program

The city offers an exemption program for low-income elderly people and persons with disabilities. Find out more here: <http://1.usa.gov/cambridge-snow-assistance>.

Field Trip to LWN Computer Lounge

Council members enjoyed a brief visit to the LWN Computer Lounge, located in ABC’s North Hall Community Room at 1651 Mass. Ave.

Colin Barr, LWN Computer Lab Coordinator, explained the lab’s mission and goals, and participants enjoyed light refreshments.

Community

CITYWIDE COMPUTER LAB MEETING

Colin Barr, Living Well Network Computer Lab Coordinator, helped organize and facilitate a meeting hosted at Cambridge Community Television (CCTV), aimed at engaging community computer labs in the city.

In addition to LWN and CCTV, representatives participated from community centers Margaret Fuller House and Cambridge Community Center, The Cambridge Homes, Career Source, and city programs Cambridge Senior Center, Cambridge Public Library, Cambridge Housing Authority, and Cambridge Public Schools.

Participants described the populations that attend labs, discussed common challenges and the digital divide (issues with access to technology,) as well as brainstormed how to locate and share resources. The discussion will be ongoing as a resource for all computer labs in the city.

LWN INDOOR SOCCER

This winter, team up with the Living Well Network for indoor soccer! Weekly pick-up games will be held one night a week from 7:00-9:00 PM for residents over age fifty. We're looking for eight to twelve players committed to participating at least most of the time.

Interested? Contact Phoebe Sinclair at psinclair@agassiz.org or (617) 349-6287 x10.

LWN MOVIE NIGHT

The LWN Movie Night and Discussion series continues this January with "The Take" at the Maud Morgan Arts Center. A $3 admission fee supports the program.

Date: Tuesday, January 31
Time: 7:00 PM
Location: 2D Studio, Maud Morgan Arts, 20A Sacramento Street

For more information or to suggest a film, please contact Colin at (617) 349-6287 x10 or cbarr@agassiz.org.

LWN YOGA

This winter, stay fit with LWN Yoga, taught by Christine Palamidessi Moore. Classes are held on Saturdays from 9:30-10:30 AM at Lesley's University Hall (Porter Exchange), 1815 Mass. Ave.

The schedule for January and February are still being determined, so contact Phoebe Sinclair, Community Liaison, at (617) 349-6287 x10 or psinclair@agassiz.org for more information!

THANKS FOR TAKING OUR SURVEY

ABC extends a hearty thanks to everyone who took our survey, "Get The Information You Want The Way You Want." We look forward to improving how we communicate with you - our program community and supporters- on-line and off.

Also, congratulations to Susan Tiersch and Esme Caramello, the two lucky raffle winners who will receive gift certificates to Hi-Rise Bread Company and Petsi Pies!

5TH ANNUAL FLYING ZUCCHINI CAFÉ

Prepared by Emma Mrozicki, Early Childhood Site-Dir.

The 5th annual Flying Zucchini Café, held the evenings of December 7th and 8th 2011, was a huge success! This year's theme was "Eat Your Colors," complete with a rainbow of decorations and healthy colorful foods such as beets, multi-colored carrots, red quinoa, and green lentils.

Students from the Agassiz Baldwin Afterschool Kindergarten and 1st-5th grade programs prepared for weeks leading up to the event by trying out recipes, making table and wall decorations, producing menus and cookbooks, designing the T-shirt, serving food, and visiting local businesses to learn how to host, wait tables, and sell merchandise.

The night of the café, the students cooked, served, showed guests to their tables, and performed in videos, dances, and a drama skit!

Many thanks to the local farms and businesses that donated and supported this year's event:

- Apex Orchards
- Enterprise Farm
- Harvest Co-op
- Iggy's Bread of the World
- JP Licks
- Taza Chocolate
- Trader Joe's
- When Pigs Fly
- Wintermoon Organic Farm
- Rafiki Bistro
- Cambridge Common
- Raspberry Beret

Students also helped raise money for the Margaret Fuller Neighborhood House Food Pantry by selling jewelry and other crafts that they made.

Many thanks to our amazing teaching staff, parents, and the Maria L. Baldwin School for helping make this another great Flying Zucchini Café!

RECYCLE MORE IN 2012

Prepared by the Cambridge Recycling Department

Recycle Christmas Trees

Curbside collection of bare trees (remove all decorations and stands, please no plastic bags) begins Tuesday, January 3 through Friday January 13, weather permitting. Every year, residents recycle thousands of trees, that the city chips and uses for mulch.

Bring trees and items for recycling to the Cambridge Recycling Center on Tuesdays and Thursdays 4:00-7:30 PM, as well as Saturdays, 9 AM-4:00 PM, through January 21st.

Recycling eNewsletter

We hope to get at least five-hundred more Cambridge residents to sign up for our eNewsletter by June 1st, and we need your help! Please tell friends, neighbors, and family in Cambridge to stay in the loop and be the first to know about program updates, special collections, and volunteer opportunities.

To subscribe, email recycle@cambridgema.gov. Thanks for your support and participation.
